

Molson Coors Brewing Company Statement On Genetically Modified Organism Ingredients

We monitor public discussions regarding Genetically Modified Organism (GMO) ingredients and are in full compliance with health, food, safety, labeling and ingredient regulations in each of our markets.

The basic ingredients of our brews are barley malt, yeast and water, and in some products, wheat, none of which is genetically modified.

MCBC . UK Ltd. guarantees that the beers they brew are GMO free because they have ready access to GMO free ingredients from the European market. Our products in Japan and China are also GMO free.

In some parts of the world, particularly North America, GMO food products are approved for use and widely available. Our suppliers cannot guarantee that the corn (maize) products that we also use in brewing are GMO free. A wide variety of foods and beverages in North America contain these same corn (maize) ingredients.
